MORE CHARM was evidenced at another Georgetown party Friday afternoon when Marny and "Skee" Arnold invited friends to their Caton place house for cocktails.

Caton place is picturesque to begin with. It's more like a private little driveway lined with attractive houses and gardens. Only in Georgetown would you find such a street and only in Georgetown could you have it roped off at the entrance on Reservoir road.

The Arnolds have a tiny house done with lovely taste and a perfect little white rose-lined garden. This, too, was used—specifically by Jane Barkley, Marny and Clark Clifford, the Edward Foleys and Senator Stuart Symington.

The Alec Hagners were there getting a send-off in Alec's bright red Mercedes Benz. Assistant Secretary of the Air Force David Smith, and his wife June, chatted with the Norman Pauls on the lawn across the street while Joan Browne, Joan Gardner and Ceci Carusi lounged in comfortable lawn chairs.
